The 2013 National Women's History Month theme, Women Inspiring Innovation through Imagination, honors generations of women who throughout history have used their intelligence, imagination, sense of wonder and tenacity to make extraordinary contributions to the science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM) fields.

We chose our theme in honor of the newly opened Foothill College Physical Sciences & Engineering Center (PSEC). In addition to serving as the home for the Foothill College Science Learning Initiative, Foothill's PSEC houses integrated instructional technology and classrooms; state-of-the-art laboratories and equipment; signature art installations; and unique sustainability features. The facility has also been designed to achieve the U.S. Green Building Council's Leadership in Energy & Environmental Design LEED® silver rating. "With good teaching at its heart, Foothill has embarked on a major initiative to attract more women and underrepresented students to STEM fields and help them succeed through the Science Learning Institute."—Linda M. Thor, Ed.D., Chancellor, Foothill-De Anza Community College District
